Yanks Fight Way Out Of Cong Encirclement

SAIGON UPI—Two companies of U. S. paratroopers who had been cut off by the Communists for nearly two days, fought their way through red machine-gun fire to safety today, bringing their dead and wounded with them.

Capt. Bill Carpenter of Monroe, N. Y., the former West Point football star who commands one of the companies, walked out of the Communist-infested jungle without a scratch.

Carpenter asked the air force to fire-bomb his own position Thursday in a desperate gamble to keep his company from being massacred. Some of the men who came out with him today suffered burns in the napalm attack that probably saved their lives.

Brig. Gen. Willard Pearson, commander of the 101st Airborne Brigade, flew in by helicopter to congratulate the survivors.

"You did a marvelous job, captain," he told Carpenter.

Carpenter and Capt. Walter R. Brown of Chattanooga, Tenn., the other company commander, received Pearson's praise gratefully but somberly. A row of poncho-covered bodies carried out by litter teams bore silent witness to the punishment the two companies took during their 48-hour ordeal.

Three bodies had to be left behind.

"All attempts to get them were futile," Carpenter said. "They probably were booby-trapped by the Communists and left there for bait."

He said one of his men tried to recover the bodies Friday. He was killed by machine-gun fire before he had taken half a dozen steps.

Lt. Col. Henry (the gunfighter) Emerson, commander of the battalion of which the two companies are a part, said there were so many Communists surrounding the paratroopers that helicopters could not get in to bring out the wounded. The paratroopers broke through to safety on the same bomb-cratered hill which Brown's company climbed Thursday on their way to join Carpenter's men.

"This is the prettiest place in the world..." said Brown, who was 26 today. "There were times when I didn't think I'd ever get back up on this hill. It's the best present I ever had."

Alma Off East Coast

WILMINGTON, N. C. UPI—Tropical storm Alma whirled in the Atlantic Ocean off the North Carolina coast today lashing resorts and fishing hamlets with gale winds and heavy rains.

The Miami Weather Bureau said a cold front moving through the Carolinas could cause erratic motion of Alma, but said it was expected to continue generally on a seaward course.

At 3 a. m. EDT, Alma's center was located about 70 miles south of Wilmington near latitude 33.2 north, longitude 78.0 west, and moving toward the east-northeast at about 15 miles per hour.

Buddhists Stage Demonstration

HUE, Viet Nam UPI—Yellow-robed Buddhist monks led demonstrators today in an anti-American, anti-government parade commemorating a fiery suicide which helped to overthrow President Ngo Dinh Diem three years ago.

The demonstrators paraded through the city from the Dieu De Pagoda to the Tu Dam Pagoda, a distance of about two miles.

Several speakers denounced the government at a mass meeting in the Dieu De Pagoda which preceded the march. The parade itself was silent, but the demonstrators carried banners denouncing the United States for supporting Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and accusing the Ky regime of "oppression."

The parade commemorated the death of a Buddhist monk named Quang Duc, who walked to the center of an intersection in Saigon on June 11, 1963, poured gasoline over himself and set himself on fire.

Duc's suicide was the first of seven self-immolations which helped to bring down the Diem government. Diem was overthrown and assassinated in November, 1963.

Missile Fired

CAPE KENNEDY UPI—The nation's 35th missile firing submarine, the USS James K. Polk, shot a Polaris A3 missile more than 1,500 miles to an Atlantic Ocean target area.

It was the 41st success in 43 firings for the 2,880-mile range rocket.

The Polk, making its first missile firing training run, launched the Polaris at 12:09 p.m. EDT while cruising submerged about 30 miles east of the Cape.

The east-northeast course keeps the broad, diffuse center of Alma near the jutting coastline of the Carolina Capes, and gale warnings were displayed from Savannah, Ga., to the Virginia Capes.

Highest winds were estimated at 50 mph near the center of the storm, which killed at least 14 persons as it battered Cuba and Florida as a hurricane.

Florida officials estimated Alma, the season's first hurricane, caused $1.5 million "insurable" damage in that state. Alma slammed into the Florida panhandle with 100 mph winds Thursday, then moved into Georgia and lower South Carolina and out into the Atlantic.

WASHINGTON UPI—President Johnson Friday named educator J. Graham Sullivan, to be U. S. Deputy Commissioner of Education.

Scientific Balloon

PALESTINE, Tex. UPI — The University of California at San Diego Friday launched a huge balloon carrying instruments to measure micrometeoritic particles in the upper atmosphere.

The balloon, launched at the National Center for Atmospheric Research, (NCAR) was drifting toward Big Springs, Tex. It was expected to go to an altitude of about 70,000 feet. The test was expected to end about sunset.

The payload of 500 pounds includes a screen that, lowered by a nylon cable, is supposed to collect particles of meteorites.

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Indiana's big medicare headache will not be the doctors, it will be lack of hospital facilities.

That was the consensus of medical and hospital spokesmen interviewed today about the probable impact in Indiana of the July 1 beginning of this government plan for providing over-65 residents with medical care.

Acting director Robert Rogers of the Hospital and Institutional Services Division of the State Board of Health termed as "an understatement" a report by the Health, Education and Welfare Department in Washington identifying nine counties as potential medicare trouble spots for lack of hospital facilities. The nine counties listed by HEW were Clark, Delaware, Hendricks, LaGrange, Monroe, Orange, Porter, Starke and Tipton.

Rogers said that not only hospitals in those nine counties but also hospitals in many other counties already are past the 85 per cent average occupancy of beds which has been used as a yardstick in the evaluation of hospitals.

Rogers said he has found general acceptance of the medicare program by doctors once a "misinterpretation" of certain rules was clarified.

James Waggener, spokesman for the Indiana State Medical Association, also said that "a little misunderstanding" of the handling for payment had contributed to initial protests but has since been clarified.

Waggener said he believes most Indiana doctors in most cases will send their bills for medical services directly to the patients on medicare, just as they do for any other patient, and the patient then will seek reimbursement from Blue Cross—Blue Shield, Inc.

"I would say a high per cent of Indiana's 123 licensed hospitals have more than 85 per cent occupancy of medical-surgical beds," Rogers said. "The obstetric beds would be less, which brings the average bed occupancy down."

Singer Involved In Fisticuffs

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — UPI—Retired business executive Frederick R. Weisman, 54, who suffered a skull fracture after he allegedly struck Frank Sinatra last Wednesday, was in serious condition today following 2½ hours of brain surgery.

The altercation took place in the swank Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel, where Sinatra celebrated his 40th birthday.

Sinatra, 50, told detectives Weisman "hit me in the right eye" without provocation and that he did not strike back.

Weisman, former president of Hunt Foods, Inc., had not regained consciousness since his admission Wednesday night to Mt. Sinai hospital.

Wrong Crowd

NOTTINGHAM, England UPI—Escaped convict Joseph Britchford mingled with a crowd at a cricket match, but he was quickly recaptured. Both teams were made up of local policemen.

MOSCOW UPI—Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said Friday the Kremlin is making new efforts to help North Viet Nam and "will strengthen its defense power."

Brezhnev gave no details of either the defense or the aid moves.

But his speech in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses bristled with apparent Soviet determination to see the Vietnamese Communists through to the bitter end in their war with the "American imperialists."

Brezhnev warned his people—many of whom heard his speech live on television—that Soviet aid and commitments may force a cutback in spending on such domestic goals as more consumer goods.

Brezhnev is a candidate for the Supreme Soviet Parliament from the Bauman electoral district in Moscow for the third time and he delivered an election speech before the June 12 elections.

"The overriding aim of Soviet foreign policy is to strengthen the might and unity of the world system of socialism," Brezhnev said.

"It is our party's invariable policy to provide the utmost assistance to the peoples who uphold their freedom and independence in the struggle against imperialism, to help the movement for liberation, the revolutionary movement."

These are terms the Soviet uses to describe the war in Viet Nam.

Richard Nixon Speaks Tonight

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Today is Nixon Day for Indiana Republicans.

Former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon is due to fly to Indianapolis this afternoon for a news conference and to be the chief speaker at a $100-a-plate GOP "Go-Go" dinner in the Manufacturers Building at the State Fairgrounds.

Republican State Chairman Charles O. Hendricks has predicted that more than 3,000 will attend the affair because of Nixon's stature as a possible party presidential nominee in 1968 and his general popularity in the state.

Restrict Aid

WASHINGTON UPI — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Friday to restrict U.S. military aid to Latin America.

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Compulsory inspection of motor vehicles is coming on a national scale, so Indiana should act promptly before the federal government forces it on the state, a legislative study committee was told this week.

Floyd Kline, Indiana traffic safety director, told the Highway Needs Study Committee the 1967 Legislature should enact mandatory inspection laws as a major means of reducing traffic deaths.

"We are going to get mandatory inspection anyway," Kline said. "If the state doesn't the federal government will, and I'd rather see our state police be the only group that handles motor vehicle inspection in Indiana."

Indiana State Police Supt. Robert A. O'Neal said mandatory inspection has been discussed at length in his department and "we have no objection to the state police supervising the inspection."

"But we are inclined to think any revenue aspect should be handled by some other group, maybe the Bureau of Motor Vehicles," O'Neal added.

O'Neal said the department has been discussing a plan which would call for the motor vehicles bureau to issue stickers to motorists for a fee. The stickers would be displayed on windshields of the inspected vehicles to show they had passed the test.

While the police would supervise, garages or service stations would be licensed to conduct the actual mechanical inspection of the vehicles, O'Neal said.

Kline also told the committee a serious driving hazard is posed by the growing use of so-called "harmless" drugs such as tranquilizers. He said no study had been made to determine how serious the situation is.

"The so-called harmless drugs are not harmless when you are driving a motor vehicle," Kline said. "If anything takes 10 to 15 per cent off the top of your driving ability you are done."

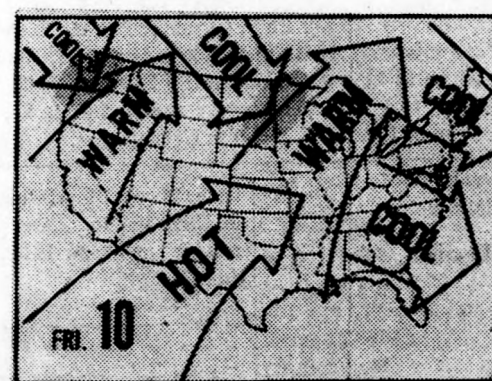

Kline told the committee his office is handicapped badly by the lack of funds to operate a continuing safety program. But he opposed outside contributions to finance such a program.

"The people of Indiana are entitled to have their tax dollars spent on a program that saves their lives," Kline said. "The program shouldn't be dependent on outside sources although there is nothing wrong with an occasional program financed that way."

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK UPI — Stanley Heller & Co. says the market will continue to provide ample capital appreciation opportunities for the alert trader but the longer term investor probably would be better advised to consider capital preservation as a primary objective.

Thomson & McKinnon says the market's action of late seems to be reflecting a continual lack of buying interest rather than any meaningful selling on the part of investors. The firm says a basically conservative investment course, with emphasis on fundamental values, remains in order.

Bache & Co. says that based on fundamental and technical considerations, the chances for a summer rally are good and it would utilize declines for accumulation of good quality issues.

Dr. Sheppard To Have New Trial

CLEVELAND UPI — Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan has ordered a new trial for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, a society osteopath who has served more than nine years in prison for the slaying of his first wife.

In a 29-page opinion handed down Monday, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Sheppard either goes on trial within 60 days or is freed.

Corrigan spent long hours studying the opinion before his decision today.

Dr. Sam and his second wife, the former Ariane Tebb-Johannes, a native of Germany whom he married in July, 1964, were in their suburban Rocky River home, when Corrigan's decision was announced.

"I want to be free," Sheppard said earlier this week when he was informed of the Supreme Court's ruling. "I'm ready to go on trial now. They don't have enough evidence to convict me."

The 42-year-old society osteopath is free under bond after being indicted for second degree murder. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in December, 1954, after a trial that was widely publicized.

Sen. Kennedy Discusses Viet

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania UPI—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said Friday if the South Vietnamese people chose to live under communism the United States would abide by their choice.

Questioned by officials of the ruling Tanganyika African National Union (TANU) party, the New York Democrat said Americans were only concerned with an end to the fighting in South Viet Nam and with free elections there.

If they decide on communism, then the people of the United States will abide by this decision," Kennedy said.

His comments followed Tanzanian President Julius K. Nyerere's statement Thursday to (TANU) that the country must be aware the imperialism is not limited to the West. Nyerere said it was often stated that Tanzania was anti-West but this was partly due to the West's failure to understand and respect Tanzanian independence.

In his first full day's program here, Kennedy met (TANU) officials and later had a two-hour meeting with Nyerere at the state house.

Jurists Assail Writers' Trial

GENEVA UPI — The International Commission of Jurists Friday condemned the trial in Moscow earlier this year of Soviet writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel.

Sinyavsky and Daniel were sentenced to seven and five years, respectively, in a labor camp for smuggling alleged "anti-Soviet" novels to the West.

The commission noted, however, the trial represented "a milestone marking the point of no return of the Soviet moral progress toward overcoming Stalinism."

In Stalin's days, it said, such free-thinking individuals would have simply disappeared. The commission holds consultative status with the United Nations.

3 Nations Agree To Air Corridor

WASHINGTON UPI — The United States, Britain and Canada Friday, suspended the controversial 90-mile corridors for jets flying the North Atlantic and agreed to return to the old separation width of 120 miles.

The surprise announcement was a resounding victory for airline pilots who have denounced the 90-mile standard as unsafe.

The decision to scrap the narrower corridors was announced by the Federal Aviation holding on-again, off-again hearings on charges by the Air Line Pilots' association (ALPA) that a 90-mile airplane could constitute a collision hazard.

FAA said air traffic control authorities of the three countries still regard 90 miles of minimum separation as safe. It emphasized that the return to the board corridors is "only an interim step toward the attainment of a more lasting solution."

FAA said the control authorities will invite all nations using the North Atlantic airplanes to cooperate in an immediate and scientific survey of present navigational accuracy.

Says Would-Be Staffer Her Loyalty Still Lives

By ROBERTA ROESCH

"Employers who keep insisting that loyalty is dead ought to give women who are over 50 a chance to prove it isn't," writes a Pennsylvania reader, currently seeking a job.

"I am writing this in response to one of your columns in which you related the story of a laboratory owner who said that the kind of loyalty he would like to see in the people he hires diminishes more each year.

Caused A Breakdown
"In the column I have in mind," she says, "a girl who worked in his laboratory allowed an expensive machine to break down because, if she had taken the time to fix it or report that something was wrong, she would have been a few minutes late leaving the lab for the day."

"Might I suggest to this employer, and to others who feel as he does, that some of us who are over 50 might exhibit the kind of loyalty he says he would like to see?"

"Most of us received our training and working experience in times when loyalty mattered so much we would never have left for the day without fixing the machine or reporting the trouble, even if it meant working overtime without pay to do it."

"Maybe if you print this letter, it will open the eyes of some of the employers who generally turn down women who are 50 and over in favor of younger employees."

Similar To Others

This letter is one of several that had a similar message for employers who bemoan the fact that old-fashioned loyalty from their staff is an item that has gone out like the quill pen.

But I also would like to point out that the kind of old-fashioned loyalty many mature job-seekers are anxious and willing to give can be an asset when you are looking for employment, if you stress it enough.

To make this point work for you, emphasize it in every letter of application you write and in every interview you have been granted. Say that you are mentioning it, because you have heard so often that loyalty is a dying thing among employees today. Then indicate to prospective employers that you were born and bred on it and would like to prove it won't be dead when you become an employee.

A Reader Says She Wants Only A Chance To Show Her Loyalty

As you promote this asset as something a boss will want, present additional points in the form of concrete examples of your previous loyalty to your former employers or community commitments. If you can get letters to substantiate your claims, so much the better.

Added Attributes
Finally, add marketable skills, a good appearance and a realistic approach to working to your brand of old-fashioned loyalty and you will find your prospects brighter for a job no matter how old you are.

Women are doing this every day. So you can do it, too.

Arabs To Fight With Viet Cong

CAIRO, U.A.R. UPI — Members of the Palestine Liberation Organization's (PLO) army will be sent to Viet Nam to "fight alongside the Viet Cong in the struggle against American imperialism," the Middle East news agency reported Thursday.

The semi-official Egyptian news agency quoted (PLO) chairman Ahmed Shukeiry announcing the plan to send his Arab soldiers to Viet Nam.

Shukeiry said the plan would enable armed elements "to study in actual surrounding methods of guerrilla warfare which will be useful in the inevitable war to liberate Palestine," the agency said.

LETTER to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Why is the intersection of East Franklin and N. Locust Sts. a yield instead of a stop intersection? There are six intersections on East Franklin and that one is the only yield. If I remember correctly there have been accidents at that particular intersection. I counted 21 cars passing that intersection in 5 minutes one day and 6 of the 21 traveling Franklin didn't yield.

The Indiana Driver's manual states the definition of a yield sign as "this is almost a stop sign. It means stop if another car is coming on the intersecting road or street."

What (in the interest of safety) would it take to get the city to replace the yield sign with a stop sign at East Franklin?

Supreme Court Rejects Petition

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The Indiana Supreme Court—by the narrowest possible margin—declined to review its earlier opinion relating to operation of a former school bus as a place of prostitution.

An attorney for Nelson Noel, whose conviction in Greene Circuit Court on a charge of enticing a female into an immoral place was upheld April 14 by the Supreme Court, argued vainly that the high court was giving "tacit approval to loose trial court practice."

The court voted 3-1, with one judge not participating, against granting a rehearing of the Noel decision.

But Judge Amos Jackson, who supported the April 14 affirming the lower court conviction, dissented this time and voted for a rehearing.

However, he was out-voted by Chief Justice Frederick Rakestraw and Judges Norman Arterburn and Walter Myers.

The points raised by the petition for a rehearing included, in addition to the argument about whether a bus is "a place" in terms of the law, the question of entrapment and contained criticism of the high court for what Noel's attorney said was condonation of error.

The reference was the use of the word "impossible" when it appeared evident the intended word was "improbable."

The petition warned that by excusing this error, the Supreme Court "give tacit approval to loose trial court practice by condoning and excusing errors which result in carelessness."

Error also was alleged in the April 14 opinion in that the 17-year-old former inmate at the Indiana Girls School who was the chief prosecution witness was not "enticed" by Noel into the bus but "entered on the specific command, order and direction of the parole and law enforcement officers of Greene County."

Evidence had been that Noel first talked to the girl at her home about a job and that he later met her at a place called Bald Knob. He was arrested when the girl entered his bus, which contained a cot.

Orders Aid For Tornado Areas

WASHINGTON UPI — President Johnson ordered government officials Thursday to "bring every aspect of federal assistance to bear" to help victims of hurricane Alma in Florida and of tornadoes in the Topeka, Kans., area.

The President relayed orders through director Ferris Bryant of the Office of Emergency Planning.

News Secretary Bill D. Moyers also said that 21,870 Floridians have been given refuge in 191 shelters during the night as hurricane Alma moved up the coast.

Sheinwold on Bridge

Name Doesn't Matter

If You Make The Play

By Alfred Sheinwold

Thirty years ago Ely Culbertson dramatically called a certain bridge play "The Coup Without a Name." Modern writers prefer to call it "The Scissors Coup" because it cuts communications between the two opponents. Call it what you like, as long as you make the play when it is needed.

Double All Pass
Opening lead — 4 K

West opens the king of clubs, and East signals with the nine. West shrewdly decides against leading another club. Instead, he shifts to his singleton diamond.

If declarer returns a trump, West takes the ace of trumps and leads the ten of clubs to East's ace. East then returns a diamond, and West's ruff defeats the contract.

This pretty defense gives great joy to all except two players at the table. Still, South should make his contract in spite of the clever shift to diamonds.

CUTS COMMUNICATIONS
South must cut communications between East and West. If East never gains the lead, he can never give his partner a diamond ruff.

Upon winning the second trick in dummy with the king of diamonds, South must not lead trumps. Instead, declarer leads the king of hearts from dummy. South throws away a club instead of ruffing, and West must win the trick.

This maneuver gives West a trick with the ace of hearts but prevents East from getting a trick with the ace of clubs. It is better than an even exchange for South because East never gets the lead—which means that West never gets his diamond ruff.

After executing this little coup South can easily draw trumps and run his diamonds in safety.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-A 8 7 5; H-A 7 4 3; D-6; C-K Q J 10. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs. You intend to bid hearts next, and finally jump in spades. This should show the strength and the distribution at the same time. An immediate raise to three spades would not tell partner about the singleton diamond.

Combat Police Sent To Hue

SAIGON UPI — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky moved a battalion of combat police into the rebel city of Hue today where militant followers of firebrand Buddhist Leader Thich Tri Quang have blocked military convoys in defiance of the government.

The troops, armed with tear gas canisters and clad in camouflage uniforms, moved inside a police compound in the center of the city. They made no immediate attempt to remove the religious altars moved into the streets by the Buddhists as symbols of protest against Ky, but a police source told UPI correspondent Robert Ibrahim they were only "waiting for the word."

Tri Quang, the most militant of the leading Buddhists, became so weak from a hunger strike today that he and his entourage of monks and nuns moved to a hospital.

In Saigon, a number of monks and nuns began a fast in support of Quang and the leaders of the Vien Hoa Dac Pagoda here representing the church's more moderate faction sent a telegram of encouragement.

Quang launched his hunger strike Wednesday and vowed he would consume only tea and fruit juices until President Johnson withdraws U.S. support of Ky's military government.

DOUBLE DECKER DRIVE IN

A Local Teenager's View

By JANET STAUB

In the good old days when a new catalog was delivered via the postman the whole family would gather round the wishing book to view the new fangled inventions of the day. Automatic washers were seen for the first time by many families through the thick colorful book.

Nowadays in modern times when a new catalog is delivered the same usual things are found in them. Because of modern communications inventions are known by many in a short time.

Recently in the little black mailbox there appeared a catalog displaying novelties. Some of the things are probably centuries old but to someone who has never even heard of some of them it is interesting.

The catalog I'm referring to is designed for every member of the family including the pets. Portable purse-size mini fans sound especially appealing if you are suffering from the heat as you read the catalog. Some people aren't satisfied with pens that write in four different colors so advertised in a pen that writes in 12 brilliant colors. The newest thing yet is stationery that is perforated in the middle so that when a person writes a letter he is sure of a quick reply.

What is really great about this kind of a catalog is the fact that the things advertised in them aren't necessities of life but after looking through the wishing book you know that you can't get along without some of them.

Red China's Liu On Way Out?

HONG KONG UPI — Red China's President Liu Shao-Chi is believed to be the next target of the group that ousted Peng Chen as chief of the Communist party's Peking branch early this month, Chinese sources said Thursday.

They said Liu probably will retain his official position, at least for the time being, while his opponents try to whittle away the "pillars of his power," reducing him to a figurehead.

They identified Liu's principal foes as Premier Chou En-Lai, Defense Minister Lin Biao and Communist General Secretary Teng Hsiao-Ping.

All three men are members of the standing committee of the Politburo, the most important branch of the party.

The Farm Front

By BERNARD BRENNER

WASHINGTON UPI — The National Commission on Food Marketing is preparing to report that the spread between farm and retail food prices—most of its processing and distribution costs—could be reduced.

The commission's report is expected to say that making such reductions will be difficult, but that marketing margins can be cut without reducing services to consumers or "unreasonably lowering earnings of the food industry."

Even if these margins are reduced, however, the commission believes they will still remain high. The panel says this is because processing and distribution of food is costly, even when it's performed at top efficiency.

The 15-member commission was established by President Johnson to look into the whole range of food costs—from farm to larder. Its report is scheduled to be published by July 1.

The report is expected to say that the possibility of reducing farm-to-retail price spreads is greatest in the case of a few products, foods the commission has found to be marketed inefficiently or to be selling at unusually high prices.

The commission report did not, at that point, specifically identify any food product. But in another section, the report says inefficiencies were found in distribution of bread and, to a lesser extent of milk. The report also indicates that the cost of retailing meat is boosted in some cases by failure to use centralized cutting facilities.

Find 500 Pileup Was Not Anyones' Fault

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The United States Auto Club said Thursday the 16-car pileup at the start of last week's 500-mile Speedway auto race "was not the fault of any one driver."

"A careful study of several films of the race clearly indicates no one driver is to blame," said USAC director of competition Henry Banks in a prepared statement.

He said it was "most unfortunate" that one driver had to stand "the brunt of unwarranted criticism."

Eleven cars were eliminated from the race, which was restarted and won by England's Graham Hill. Banks said the pileup "can only be termed a racing accident."

The Cubs High School Baseball Team was successful in its debut into the Cascade Summer Baseball League Thursday night when they downed Cascade 10 to 4. Phil Kidwell was the pitching and hitting star of the evening as he gave up only 3 hits and pitched in the first and second innings to drive in four runs for the Cubs.

Jaye Frye, David Hill, Jim Allen, and Daryl Brackney, chipped in with a bit of fine hitting and fielding. Three rookies in the high school league Richie Lear, Tom Clary, and Dennis Losin held down the catching, shortstop, and first base positions respectively in contributing to the victory.

The Tiger Cubs will take on Bainbridge, with their pitching star Larry Steele, 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at Cascade Field.

U.S. Track And Field Meet Opens

TERRE HAUTE UPI — The fourth annual U.S. Track and Field Federation national championships opened Friday with meet officials ignoring a threat that competitors would be blacklisted by the rival Amateur Athletic Union.

The AAU issued a statement in New York Thursday night declaring that athletes competing here would be blacklisted unless the USTFF applied for sanction of the meet.

The warning indicated that the power struggle between the AAU and NCAA, of which the USTFF is a branch, has not been compromised as was indicated earlier, and that their rift is as deep as ever.

"We'll not apply for any sanction while I'm breathing," said Chick Werner, USTFF executive director. "This looks like an attempt to sabotage this meet at the expense of more important things — like beating the Russians in our meet in July."

In Kansas City, NCAA executive director Walt Byers issued a similar statement.

USTFF meet director Bob Meyne of host Indiana State University, called the power struggle between the two athletic organizations "deplorable — at the expense of our fine athletes."

"We're supposed to be thinking of the kids," he said. "Once we stop doing that we are out of a job. What we need is professionals making the rules rather than people who don't know much about athletics."

By issuing his statement, Werner said the AAU actually did the USTFF a favor.

"This has helped us pull together," he said. Asked if any coach has withdrawn his athletes from this meet, Werner replied, "Certainly not. We're treating this like so much poppycock — that's what we think it is. We're letting our top executives handle the situation."

Kansas track coach Bob Timmons, whose star protege is freshman sensation, Jim Ryun, holder of the American record for the mile, conceded that the athletes were "very much disturbed" by the AAU ruling.

Indians Defeat Portland In 2 One-Run Games

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The Indianapolis Indians swept a pair of one-run games from Portland Friday night in a Pacific Coast League doubleheader here.

Earl Francis blanked Portland 1-0 in the opener and the Tribe rally for two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth to win the second outing, 3-2.

Francis tossed a three-hitter, while the Indians managed only two hits off loser Bob Heffner.

One hit was a triple by Dwayne Josephson in the fourth and he scored on Ramon Conde's sacrifice fly.

The Indians pushed across two runs in the eighth inning of the second game, then won it in the ninth when Ron Willis scored from third when catcher Doc Edwards dropped a knuckleball from loser Bob Tiefenauer.

CHICAGO UPI — Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks became the first player in National Hockey League history to win both the Hart Trophy (most valuable player) and the Lady Byng Trophy (Sportsmanship) in the same year when he was named for both after the 1964-65 season.

News Of Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Catherine Spaak, the highly publicized European actress, has arrived in Hollywood for her first movie and hardly anyone knows what to make of her.

She neither appears nor behaves as a movie star should, at least by movieland standards.

A native of Paris and a resident of Rome, Catherine speaks French and Italian fluently. Her English is disastrous. She is built along the lines of Audrey Hepburn and, while she is pretty, she isn't breathtakingly beautiful.

She has dark eyes, dark hair, dark skin and slightly protuberant teeth. She's self-conscious and conducts interviews with an interpreter who accompanied her from Italy.

The newcomer, who's starred in 26 pictures abroad, chose Warner Bros. "Hotel" as her first Hollywood role opposite Rod Taylor. Her reason: "I'm ready inside now for appearing in American films."

"I didn't take Hollywood parts before because I thought the roles were not right for me. I came out here two years ago, and then last year for conferences but I didn't feel it was the right moment for me." Catherine speaks haltingly and queries her interpreter whenever she founders in the language.

Her father is Charles Spaak, a screen writer, and her uncle is Paul-Henri Spaak, several times premier of Belgium and the first president of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Catherine, however, is reticent about discussing her background. At 21 she is in the midst of a divorce and is the mother of a baby daughter. For whatever reason, she refuses to discuss her private life.

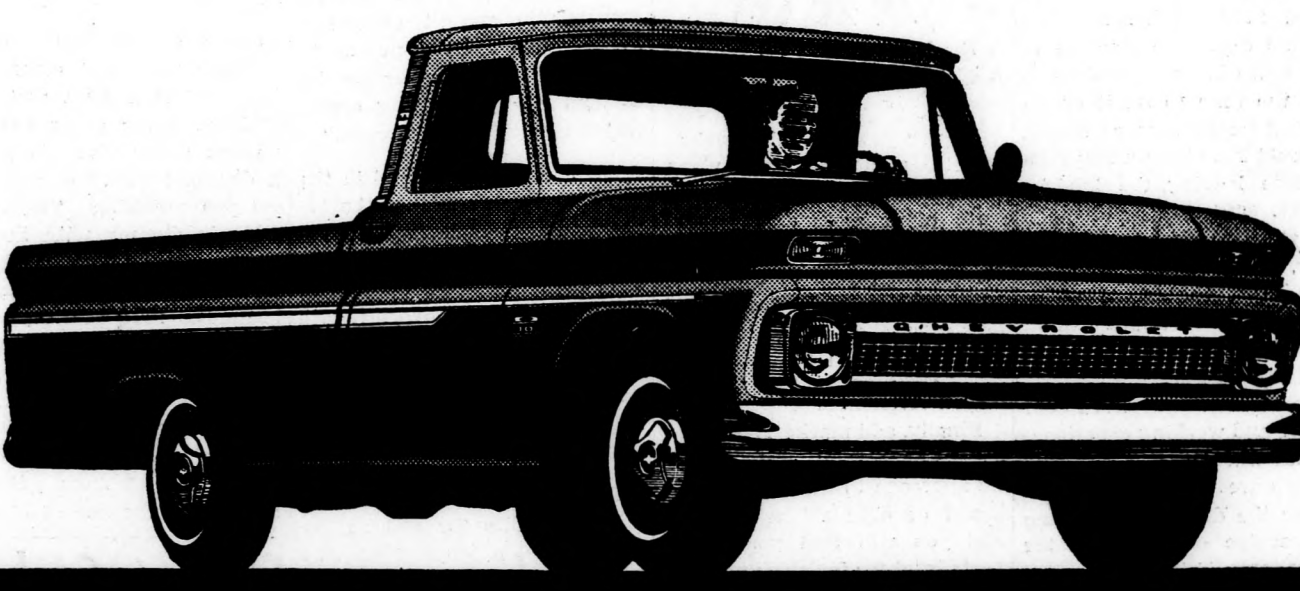

Like most foreign performers who make the pilgrimage to Hollywood she hopes that an American film will elevate her to the status of international star. She could work forever in Italian films and still be a second-rater.

Red Premier To Visit Romania

VIENNA UPI — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai will visit Romania later this month, the official Romanian news agency Agerpres reported today.

The report did not elaborate on the exact date of his visit beyond stating that he will come "in June."

"Chou En-Lai will lead a Chinese party and government delegation on a friendship visit to the Socialist Republic of Romania in June," Agerpres said.

He will come on invitation of the Central Committee of the Romanian Communist party, the report added.

Two Tornadoes Hit Lubbock, Tex.

LUBBOCK, Tex., UPI—Two tornadoes churned northward through Lubbock Friday smashing scores of homes and buildings and injuring 16 persons. Damage at Lubbock and at Abernathy and Plainview, Tex. to the North, was estimated at more than $1 million.

The twisters, which dipped out of a thunderstorm system that unleashed baseball-size hailstones that covered the ground and torrents of rain, veered suddenly to the right and probably saved many lives.

It missed the city's heaviest residential areas, the downtown section and Texas Technological College.

Winds estimated at 86 miles an hour from the twister back-lash smashed hundreds of windows in the downtown section, littering streets and sidewalks with glass.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said a survey of storm-struck portions of Lubbock, Abernathy, 17 miles to the North, and Plainview, 40 miles northeast, indicated a damage would exceed $1 million.

The twister smashed two giant chicken houses at the Robnett egg farm, killing 2,500 chickens. More than 500 telephones were knocked out and power poles and big voltage lines lay popping on yards and

No chain is stronger than its weakest link.

The WEAK LINK

Oh, the tragedy of a weak link. For one weak link the great load breaks adrift; for one weak link my car remains in the mud; for one weak link something precious is lost.

No chain is stronger than its weakest link. Life is of a piece... every hour, day, week, month and year counts toward the everlasting. Then, it is very important to form good habits early. Habits of prayer, reverence, church attendance and forbearance... these form the healthful air of human development. These are the strong links of moral living that forge character which will stand strain, stress and trial. These are the good chains, strong chains, useful chains, dependable chains... how priceless they are.

Come! Let us also go to the house of the Lord!

This message is dedicated to the building of a more spiritual and a greater church going community under the auspices of the Greencastle Ministerial Association and is being sponsored by the following individuals and business firms who want, as their only return, to see more people attending church. The church needs your support. The community needs the church.
